

BCA eLearning advice

Dear BCA student

Student IDs will be loaded into the BCA eLearning system for the current semester. You should be able to login and access your unit sites some time in late July. If you can login before the semester start date of 30 July, unit sites may not appear on your "My Units of Study" page or, if they do, they may not contain materials until the start of semester.

Following is an eLearning (online unit site) access advice, login address and a quick check list.

ELEARNING ACCESS ADVICE

The BCA uses the University of Sydney online Learning Management (eLearning) System (LMS), called Canvas. Login access is via unikey (used as a "username") and password. These are generated by the Sydney IT dept.

The LMS has been transferred from Blackboard to Canvas in 2-2018.

Login information varies, depending on your enrolment status, ie at which university you enrolled (Sydney or other), and when. Please look at the instructions below under the heading that applies to your current circumstances. (Choose carefully, there's a number of categories.)

NEW STUDENTS (first enrolment this semester)

New students enrolled at all BCA universities EXCEPT the University of Sydney:

Your username and password are being generated. We will email them to you individually before the start of semester.

New students enrolled at the University of Sydney:

Students enrolled at the University of Sydney are loaded into sites as part of standard university-wide enrolment procedures (BCA sites are cross-linked to Sydney unit codes). We have no control over this process, but unless you enrolled late, you should be in sites by the start of semester. If all is not as it should be on 30 July, call or email us. We can give you a temporary (role-based) login to cover the gap till your unikey is posted in the unit site/s.

CONTINUING STUDENTS (ie not new this semester – even if you withdrew from units and suspended study for the semester or year)

Students who have done BCA units in previous semesters (unless you only did EPI):

Use the unikey and password you were given at the start of your BCA study. These don't change. If they don't work, contact us. We may have to refresh the password or, if a longer period of time has elapsed, ask ICT to renew the unikey.

Note to continuing students enrolled at the University of Sydney

Students enrolled at the University of Sydney are loaded into sites as part of standard enrolment procedures (BCA sites are cross-linked to Sydney unit codes). We have no control over this process, but unless you enrolled late, you should be in sites by the start of semester. If all is not as it should be on 30 July, call or email us. We can give you a temporary (dummy) login to cover the gap till your unikey is posted in the unit site/s.

ALL STUDENTS

If you are enrolled in Epidemiology, it will not be delivered on the BCA unit sites in Canvas.

Staff at the university in which your EPI is delivered will advise about access to eLearning sites.

A note about temporary logins (should you be needing one of these):

These are a temporary fix while standard unikey access is arranged through Sydney ICT. You will be able to get into your site on Canvas but you won't appear under your own name. If you identify yourself in messages you post in Discussions, the unit coordinator/s and students will know it's you. Also, you will not be able to submit assessments on line. If you have not received your personal login details by the time of first submission, you can email your completed assessment material to the coordinator/s.

GETTING STARTED GUIDE

A Getting Started in Canvas Guide can be found here.

LOGGING IN

1. Login at: canvas.sydney.edu.au
2. Enter your Username (unikey) and password and hit OK.

Failure to log in: If you find you can't log in, contact us at bca@ctc.usyd.edu.au

CLASS ATTENDANCE CHECK LIST

We need to know that you are on board and in the right spot, and that you have established your enrolment at your university.

Please note the following and CONTACT US IF:

- you can't login on Monday 30 July;
- once you have logged into your Dashboard page in Canvas, you DON'T find the units (courses, subjects, papers) that you have enrolled in for the current semester;
- you find units on your Dashboard page that you have not enrolled in (or have subsequently withdrawn from);
- you do not hear from coordinators of units in which you've enrolled by 30 July.

Note that:

- Unit coordinators should have sent you a welcome email on 27 July. You should send a reply to this, so coordinators know you are active in the unit.
- If you receive reading materials for units in which you have subsequently withdrawn, please return them to sender.

UNITS NOT ON THE My Units of Study PAGE:

- Epidemiology (EPI) is delivered from home university eLearning sites (which may be in Canvas or Blackboard). Whether you are doing this unit via your home university or the University of Queensland, the BCA Canvas site will NOT be used. This is because EPI is delivered to a wider cohort of students at each university (eg Master of Public Health students).

CENSUS DATES

The final date that you can withdraw from units/subjects without incurring full financial penalty is the census dates at the end of March for semester 1 units and August for semester 2 units. This applies to all universities.

OFFICIAL ENROLMENT

If your names do not appear in enrolment lists that university postgraduate staff send to us, we will have included you in BCA class lists on the basis of verbal notification (to the BCA office) or BCA forms for new students. Remember, if you're not officially enrolled at your home university, please organise this asap. If you are not on the relevant enrolment lists of your HOME UNIVERSITY by the census date, we will take your name out of BCA class lists and eLearning sites for the current semester.

All the best for the semester ahead

Erica and Emily
